

VISUAL STORY FOR THE HAPPINESS PROJECT

---

The show you are coming to see is called The Happiness Project, and is being performed at the Roundhouse.

This is what the Roundhouse looks like from the outside:

You will enter the building through the large glass doors.

When you come in you will see the box office where you might need to pick up your tickets.

Sometimes there is a queue of people here collecting their tickets.

If you already have your tickets you can continue walking through.

There may be music playing in this area and staff walking through the building to get to their offices.

The Happiness Project will happen in the Sackler Space (the studio theatre) on the ground floor. To get to the Sackler Space, you will need to walk down the corridor at the side of the stairs. Please ask a staff member if you need help.

On your way to the Studio Theatre you will go past our café called MADE. It has quite bright lights and plays music.

There are lots of different people who work behind the bar, making drinks and food for people who come to visit us. If you would like a drink or something to eat, please visit MADE.

When you get to the end of the corridor, there is a big sign above a door that says The Sackler Space. This is where the show will be.

There will be a member of staff at the door to welcome you to your performance and show you to your seats.

They might be wearing a red shirt, so you will know who they are.

They will also look at your tickets and will either scan them with a small machine or tear them at the edges.

Click on the image above to take a look at the Studio Theatre.

Inside the studio theatre, there are 94 red seats that are set out in rows. You might need to go up the steps to get to your seat.

The tickets are unreserved, so you can sit wherever you like, as long as there is space.

The stage has a large chalkboard, which goes from one side of the stage to the other. It might not have any writing on it when you see it before the show starts.

One of the performers called Eden will be on the stage before the show starts. You can go and say hello if you want to.

You can go to the toilet at any point in the show. The toilet is just outside the doors to the studio theatre. Look out for the signs on the doors to the toilets.

When the show starts, the lights will get a little bit darker. There might also be some music playing. The performers will enter the stage.

During the show, people may make loud sounds like laughing, and there might be some music.

At the end of the show lots of people might clap their hands. You can join in if you want to.

You can leave the theatre through the door you came in through.

Take the virtual tour of the Roundhouse – click here.