Music gigs in the Sackler Space

What to expect when you visit the Roundhouse

ROUNDHOUSE

Where is the performance?

- The show you are coming to see is being performed at the Roundhouse.
- This is what the Roundhouse looks like from the outside.

- If you are collecting your tickets, head to the box office where there might be a queue of people.

- Here you will be greeted by a member of staff who will ask you for your name and address so they can give you your rickets. They may also ask for I.D.

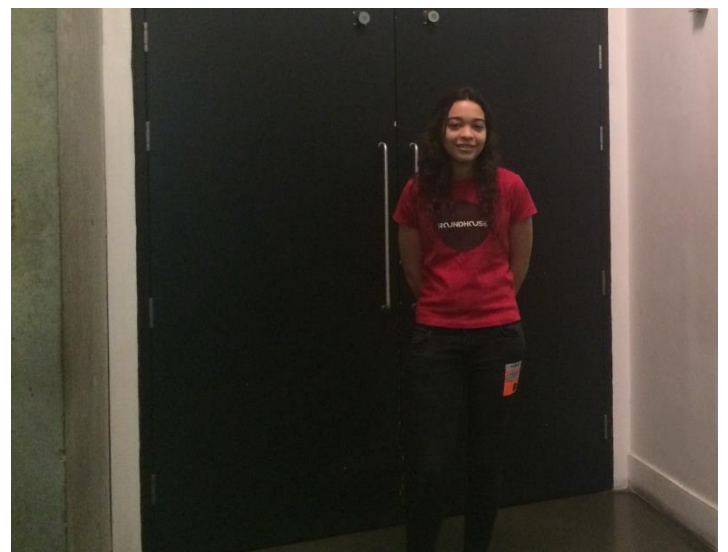

- If you already have your tickets, you can head straight down the corridor to the right of the stairs to the Sackler Space.
- You might be searched by security on the way.

- If you have any large items or a coat that you don't want to take into the performance with you, you can leave these in the cloakroom for a small fee.
- This is on the left of the stairs.

- Before entering the Sackler Space, a member of staff will check your tickets.
- There are accessible toilets to the right of these doors.

- Once inside the gig, you can find a place to stand.
- There is limited accessible seating at the back of the room on a raised platform for those who are less able to stand.

- The space will be dark and there might be flashing lights, dry ice (smoke) and loud music during the performance.

- You can leave the gig at any time and re-enter again.
- If you want to find some quiet space, you can go to the Roundhouse Bar & Café, down the corridor and on your left.

Good to know...

- Our Bar & Café on the ground floor is open from 10.30am-11:30pm on performance days.
 - Here you can buy drinks and snacks and there is plenty of seating.

If you need assistance at any point during your visit, please ask a member of staff or security.
